

Anti-Ragging Cell

The forum seeks to install discipline in the Students and to take appropriate disciplinary action against those who disobey it. Additionally, the forum hosts awareness campaigns about behavioural decorum and anti-ragging.

Our college's moral police are the Discipline and Anti-Ragging Cell, which was founded in accordance with UGC requirements. Ensuring student discipline in the classroom and on the college campus is the Cell's responsibility. The cell's members visit every classroom on a regular basis to report any inappropriate behaviour and ensure that there is no bullying or taunting going on on the college campus.

The Cell seeks to teach Students discipline and to take appropriate disciplinary measures against those who disobey it. The forum also hosts educational events on behavioural manners and anti-ragging

Goals

- To instruct students on the need to preserve discipline on college campuses.
- To inform pupils on anti-ragging rules and regulations.

Positions and Accountabilities

- Upholding order on campus and in the surrounding areas
- Teach Students on the laws pertaining to sexual harassment and ragging.
- On-going monitoring with reference to the disciplinary matters

Records Administration

The following paperwork needs to be prepared by the Discipline and Anti-Ragging Cell:

1. Rounds
2. Meeting Minutes
3. Programme Records
4. Reports on actions done
5. Annual Summaries
6. Students' own initiative.

EVENING COLLEGE

Innovative teaching practices followed by the faculty members during the academic year 2017-18

1. Mr. S. Murali-Principal-MCCEC

The best method of teaching at UG is induction whether it be called problem-based learning, discovery learning, inquiry learning, or some variation on those themes. Traditional college teaching method is deduction, starting with "fundamentals" and proceeding to application.

2. Mr. S. Suresh – MCCEC

Employer's point of view discussions with respect job fitment and upgrading of ones skills to tune up to that level.
Conceptual clarity-oriented discussions to give the skills.

3. Mrs. Sujatha – MCCEC

Research is part of the Common Core standards for second grade. Here, teachers share excellent tips for approaching this seemingly complex topic. Break down the process with this handy anchor chart and then watch them go to town writing.

4. Mrs. Parvathi – MCCEC

Creation of knowledge centre with the help of charts, posters which connect the concepts that are promoted as learning purpose. Team and groups presentations were encouraged in the classrooms.

5. Mr. Sadashiva – MCCEC

Context based learning style which makes the students to solve the problems and interpret new information relating to what is already known in co-ordination with relevance to the syllabus. Computational thinking is powerful tool to accelerate thinking and problem solving it involve breaking large problems into smaller sections in order to make the students more understanding of the concept.
